In the talk I'll present quite shortly elements of Poletsky theory which gives a description of some important functions in pluripotential theory (e.g. pluricomplex Green function, relative extremal function, etc) by analytic disks. Using this description and some elementary properties of Blaschke products we show for them product property.